

VACANCY

Title: Head of Student Welfare and Dance Science Lecturer
Salary: Circa £40,000 per annum (pro-rata)
Contract: Point 0.73 – 38 weeks per year full-time, permanent
Location: artsdepot, North Finchley

London Studio Centre (LSC) is an internationally recognised and OfS registered Higher Education conservatoire, which prides itself on training dancers, singers and actors for the profession. LSC delivers a range of programmes; from undergraduate provision focusing on professional performance (Classical Ballet, Contemporary Dance, Jazz Dance and Musical Theatre), to postgraduate provision covering production, performance and teaching. LSC's alumni are working worldwide with dance companies, in musicals and mainstream theatre from the West End to Broadway, in television, film and commercial dance. In the 2018 and 2019 Teaching Excellence and Student Outcomes Framework submissions, LSC was awarded a Gold Award. In addition, it regularly gains excellent Quality Assurance Agency reviews. LSC is a vibrant and exciting place to work and is based in the award-winning performing arts venue, artsdepot in North Finchley. In 2021, London Studio Centre's Student Welfare Department was awarded One Dance UK's Dance Healthcare Team award.

LSC wishes to recruit a Head of Student Welfare and Dance Science Lecturer. The successful applicant should have significant experience of injury management and rehabilitation, ideally within a dance setting. They should be educated to postgraduate level and be able to provide lectures in Dance Science at both undergraduate and postgraduate level. The candidate should be able to triage, signpost and support students with injury, illness or pastoral concerns. They should be able to provide pastoral or mental health support to students. This would ideally suit a candidate with experience in physiotherapy, Pilates, applied dance/sport science or other physical performance support roles. This is an exciting opportunity to be part of a team training world class performers for the future.
