

VACANCY:

Artistic Director of Seedtime Musical Theatre Company

London Studio Centre (LSC) is an internationally recognised and OfS registered Higher Education conservatoire, which prides itself on training dancers, singers and actors for the profession. LSC delivers a range of programmes; from undergraduate provision focusing on professional performance (Classical Ballet, Contemporary Dance, Jazz Dance and Musical Theatre), to postgraduate provision covering production, performance and teaching. LSC's alumni are working worldwide with dance companies, in musicals and mainstream theatre from the West End to Broadway, in television, film and commercial dance. In the last Teaching Excellence and Student Outcomes Framework submissions LSC was awarded a Gold Award (2018 and 2019). In addition, it regularly gains excellent Quality Assurance Agency reviews. LSC is a vibrant and exciting place to work and is based in the award-winning performing arts venue, artsdepot in North Finchley.

LSC has four performing companies in Classical Ballet, Contemporary Dance, Jazz Dance and Musical Theatre, designed to provide intensive training and performance to undergraduate and postgraduate students wishing to pursue a professional performing career.

LSC wishes to recruit an Artistic Director for Seedtime Musical Theatre Company, who is able to lead the practical training and performance of the company, in the context of a HE performing arts environment. The individual should be suitably qualified with significant professional and teaching experience to continue with artistic direction. They would be responsible for the training, development and mentoring of both undergraduate and postgraduate students in the company. This would include teaching daily technique class, in acting and associated disciplines. They would also be responsible for devising, developing and managing the production for the company; initiating and developing a programme of Musical Theatre, including sourcing and working with choreographers and the Director, to showcase the students.

An understanding and experience of Higher Education would be an advantage, as would a proactive approach to continuing professional development.
